

Full Document Context

C-Evidence is the only review and analysis tool to provide full document context for evidence review.

Other review tools identify "similar" documents based on words that occur within documents. Only CEvidence automatically analyzes the full context of a document by pulling information from other related documents, e-mail messages and other sources. So results are not confined to just the context provided by the words in any individual document.

Only by putting this advanced technology to work for you, can you accurately and efficiently identify the truly important evidence for your matter.

Power Your Review and Discovery

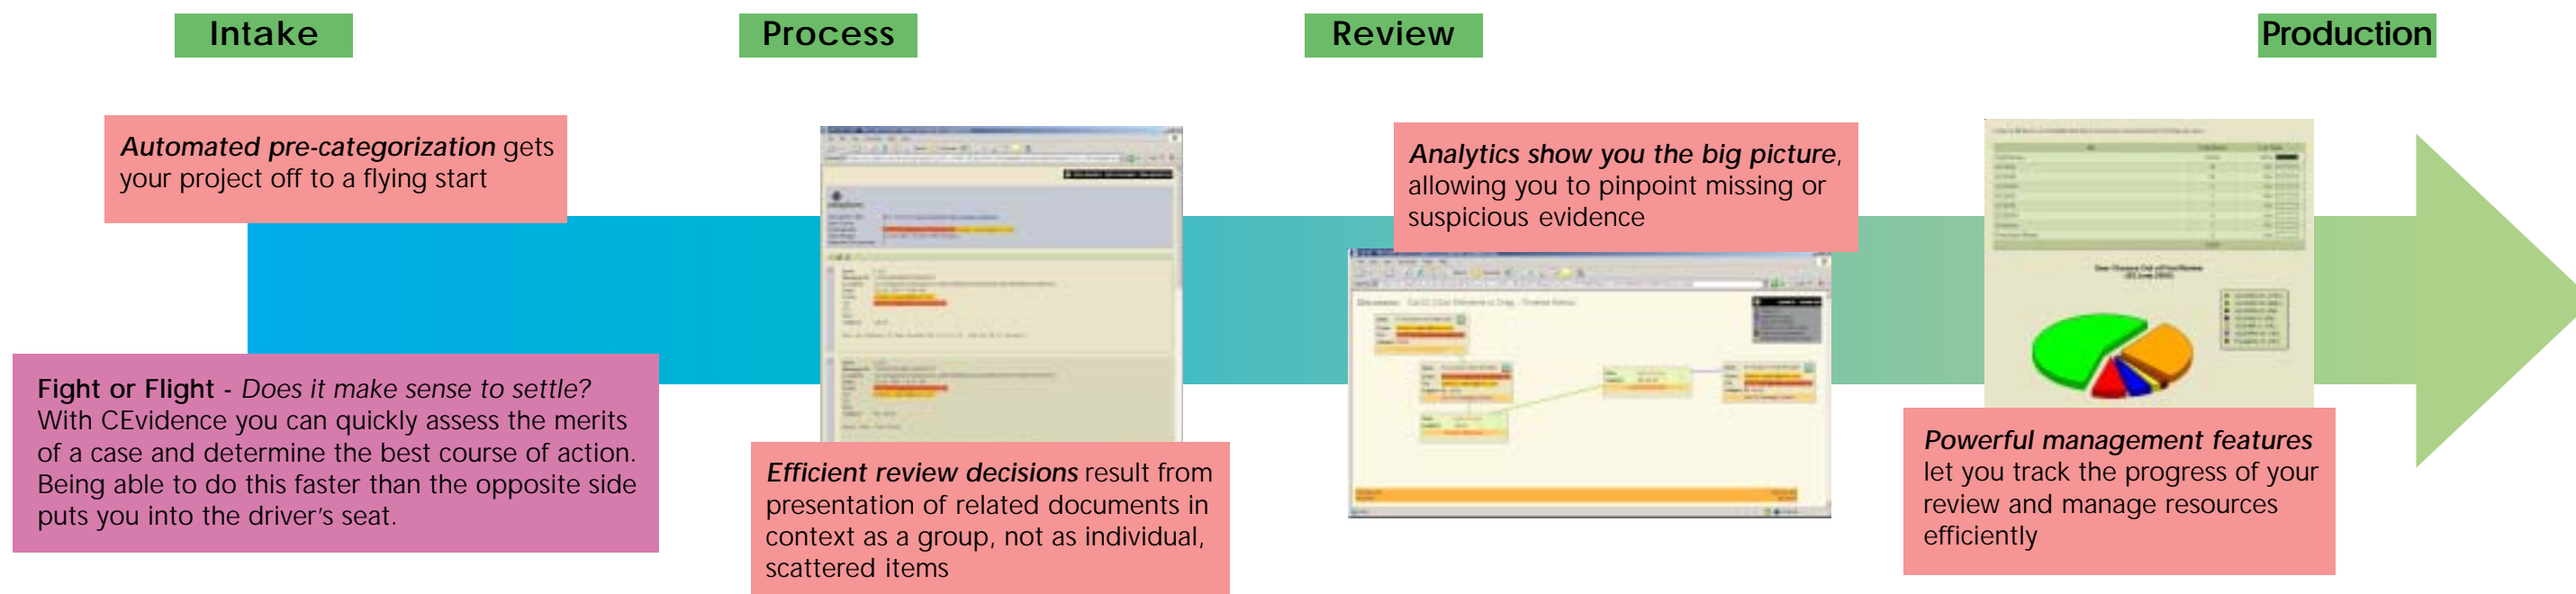

Get your project moving fast with Cataphora's unique patent-pending processing. Our powerful, intuitive interface provides your team with the most efficient review environment available. When you are faced with aggressive deadlines, every day counts toward preparing the best possible case. And more efficient review means fewer errors and significantly lower review costs. Get unparalleled insight into your review. CEvidence helps you proactively manage your review by giving you the best insight into the data. Powerful management features let you see exactly how the review effort is progressing. You are better placed than ever before to manage review strategy.

You're in charge of every aspect of electronic evidence review, analysis and investigation from the very outset. You get results fast, so you can make informed, early decisions about case strategy based on unparalleled insight and mastery of the data. The CEvidence platform is supremely configurable to fit your processes.

Quickly find the right data. To start, we can put aside duplicate documents, spam and junk e-mail, and do so with supreme precision. Our automated pre-review can highlight potentially responsive documents, or those that may contain especially pertinent information.

Apply a proven solution that has been successfully used by leading law firms, Fortune 100 corporations, and major government regulatory and investigative agencies. It is used on a wide variety of matters such as SEC investigations, product liability lawsuits, fraud, and second requests, to name just a few.

C-Evidence and Document Context

This allows C-Evidence to present each document with related documents that come before it, with it, and after it. By seeing what writers and readers of a document knew at the time, and what they wrote and did afterwards, reviewers and investigators can understand the real significance of each piece of evidence – and can do so more quickly than ever before.

Cataphora's C-Evidence review and analysis is the most advanced software that you can bring to bear on electronic evidence. We take the data for your matter and process it using our powerful systems, which we have developed specifically for the legal profession. Our unique processing prepares the data for the fastest, most accurate, most cost-effective review in the business.

The C-Evidence service – built on our own software platform – is the only one that gives you all three of these crucial benefits:

- Get it right
- Get it fast
- Get it cost effectively

Don't compromise. Put C-Evidence to work for you!

You can access the results over a secure Internet connection using an industry-standard World Wide Web browser. What you will see is a system that has been configured to your needs and to reflect the specifics of the matter. For review, we provide an efficient workflow that supports fast, accurate review decisions. For analysis, you get intuitive graphics that shine a powerful light on the big picture.

About Cataphora

Cataphora Inc. is the creator of C-Evidence, the most powerful platform for review and analysis of electronic evidence.

Our headquarters are conveniently located in the San Francisco Bay Area, a short freeway drive south of San Francisco International Airport.

1400 Bridge Parkway, Suite 203
Redwood City, CA
94065-1158
(650) 622-9840
(650) 622-9844 (fax)
info@cataphora.com

Copyright 2005, Cataphora, Inc - All Rights Reserved

Cataphora C-Evidence

Make the Data Work for You